Call for Papers

“Investment Control in the Age of Geoeconomics”

Prof. Dr. Christoph Herrmann, LL.M. / Prof. Dr. Steffen Hindelang, LL.M.

The University of Passau, Germany, and the University of Uppsala, Sweden, in cooperation with the CELIS Institute, Berlin, jointly organize a seminar for graduate and postgraduate students as well as post-docs working on topics related to investment control. The seminar will take place on 22 (drinks), 23, and 24 (noon) June 2022 in Passau, Germany.

The seminar will be held in English and will consist of short presentations (20 min.) and intense discussion. The number of participants is restricted to 10.

The organizers invite paper proposals from graduate and postgraduate students that work in the field of investment control and screening (broadly understood). Subject to administrative approval, travel expenses will be covered by the University of Passau. It's the intention of the organizers to publish the collected papers in a suitable format with a reputed publishing house, sufficient quality assumed.

Proposals shall be no longer than two pages and should describe the research question, state of research, and methodology. The deadline for submission of proposals, accompanied with a CV (two pages), is 31 March 2022. Invitations to successful candidates will be sent by 30 April at the latest.

Applications to be sent to christoph.herrmann@uni-passau.de and sh@celis.institute.
